

Observed biological, hydrological and biogeochemical proxies constrain redox-resilience architecture

Datasets operationalize buffering capacity, hydrological connectivity, kinetic asymmetry, microbial routing, root amplification, freeze-thaw redox hysteresis, oxygen-memory denitrification, abiotic rewetting chemistry and mineral electron-buffering architecture

